UNHCR facilitates voluntary repatriation for Afghan refugees who wish to return to their home country, once it is established that their return is voluntary, safe, dignified and durable. Since 2002, UNHCR Iran has supported nearly 1 million refugees to return to Afghanistan. However, as the situation in Afghanistan remains fragile, only a small number of Afghan refugees in the Islamic Republic of Iran have shown willingness and ability to return to their home country. For as long as they have to remain in Iran, UNHCR supports the host government in providing Afghans with health, education and livelihoods opportunities. Individuals who are healthy, educated and have marketable-skills are typically more likely to return to their country of origin and feel capable of rebuilding their lives. Nonetheless, ultimately, a longer-term, political solution for Afghanistan's protracted crisis is the only way to ensure safe, sustainable and voluntarily return of refugees.

VOLUNTARY REPATRIATION TRENDS

Following the April 2021 announcement of the withdrawal of international troops from Afghanistan by September 11 and the rapid deterioration of the security and human rights situation in Afghanistan, the number of UNHCR facilitated returns reached its lowest in 2021 with only 16 repatriations recorded in the month of August. UNHCR enhanced its counselling to prospective returnees to support informed decisions on return.
