promotion and protection of the rights of children

Children and armed conflict

Report of the Secretary-General

I. Introduction

1. The present report, prepared following consultations and covering the period from January to December 2021, is submitted pursuant to Security Council resolution 2427 \(2018\). The report includes trends regarding the impact of armed conflict on children and information on violations committed, as requested by the Council in its resolution 1612 \(2005\) and subsequent resolutions.<sup>1</sup> Where possible, violations are attributed to parties to conflict and the annexes to the present report include a list of parties engaging in violations against children, namely the recruitment and use of children, the killing and maiming of children, rape and other forms of sexual violence against children, attacks on schools, hospitals and protected persons in relation to schools and/or hospitals,<sup>2</sup> and the abduction of children.

2. The information contained in the present report was vetted for accuracy by the United Nations. Where information is not verified, it is qualified as such. Where incidents were committed earlier but verified only in 2021, that information is qualified as relating to an incident that was verified at a later date. The information does not represent the full scale of violations against children, as verification depends on many factors, including access. The report presents trends and patterns of violations, and engagement with parties responsible for violations that might lead to behavioural change, including promotion of accountability and inclusion of child protection provisions in peace processes. In the report, it is noted that attacks or threats of attacks on community and civic leaders, on human rights defenders and on monitors of violations against children are a cause for concern and a strain on the monitoring capacity.

<sup>1</sup> See also the relevant reports of the Secretary-General on children and armed conflict in specific country situations, in particular in Colombia (S/2021/1022), the Central African Republic (S/2021/882), Yemen (S/2021/761), Afghanistan (S/2021/662), the Syrian Arab Republic (S/2021/398), and the report of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict to the Human Rights Council on children and armed conflict (A/HRC/49/58).

3. Pursuant to Security Council resolution 1612 \(2005\), my Special Representative for Children and Armed Conflict adopted a pragmatic approach to promote broad and effective protection for children. Reference to a situation is not a legal determination, and reference to a non-State actor does not affect its legal status. Accordingly, the report documents situations in which apparent violations of international norms and standards are of such gravity as to warrant international concern, given their impact on children. My Special Representative brings these situations to the attention of Governments, which bear the primary responsibility for protecting children, in order to encourage them to take remedial measures. Where measures undertaken by listed parties had a positive impact on children or where ongoing conduct is of concern, this is highlighted. On the basis of enhanced engagement with parties, the annexes distinguish between listed parties that have put in place measures aimed at improving the protection of children during the reporting period and those that have not.

II. Situation of children and armed conflict

A. Overview of trends and patterns

4. In 2021, children in armed conflict suffered a high number of grave violations. The United Nations verified 23,982 grave violations, of which 22,645 were committed in 2021 and 1,337 were committed earlier but verified only in 2021. Violations affected 19,165 children (13,633 boys, 5,242 girls, 290 sex unknown) in 21 situations and one regional monitoring arrangement. The highest numbers of violations were the killing (2,515) and maiming (5,555) of 8,070 children, followed by the recruitment and use of 6,310 children and 3,945 incidents of denial of humanitarian access.<sup>3</sup> Children were detained for actual or alleged association with armed groups (2,864), including those designated as terrorist groups by the United Nations, or for national security reasons.

5. My Special Representative and country task forces made progress in engaging with parties in a number of countries, including Mali, Nigeria, the Philippines, South Sudan, Somalia, the Sudan, the Syrian Arab Republic and Yemen to protect children. Engagement with parties to conflict resulted in the release of 12,214 children from armed groups and armed forces.

6. Conflict escalation, the multiplication of armed actors, the use of mines, improvised explosive devices, explosive remnants of war and explosive weapons in populated areas, intensified humanitarian crises, and violations of international humanitarian law and international human rights law had a severe impact on the protection of children. Cross-border conflicts and intercommunal violence affected children, in particular in the central Sahel and Lake Chad basin regions, while coups and takeovers aggravated the situation of children in Afghanistan, Burkina Faso, Mali, Myanmar and the Sudan.

7. The highest numbers of grave violations were verified in Afghanistan, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territory, Somalia, the Syrian Arab Republic and Yemen. The number of cases of abduction increased by over 20 per cent and cases of sexual violence against children continued to increase, by over 20 per cent. The number of attacks on schools and hospitals increased by 5 per cent in a context of school closures, the military use of schools and disregard for children's right to education and health, and the situation was compounded by the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic. Non-State armed groups were responsible for 55 per cent of violations, State forces for 25 per cent, and the remainder of the violations resulted from crossfire, the use of improvised explosive devices, explosive remnants of war and landmines, or were committed by unidentified perpetrators. Over 25 per cent of child casualties resulted from improvised explosive devices, explosive remnants of war and landmines, for a total of 2,257 child casualties.

8. Whereas 70 per cent of children affected by grave violations are boys, the number of violations affecting boys has decreased, while the number of girls who were casualties of killing and maiming, or subjected to abduction and sexual violence, increased, particularly in the Lake Chad basin. Cases of sexual violence continued to be vastly underreported, owing to stigmatization, the fear of reprisals, harmful social norms, the absence of services, impunity, the lack of humanitarian access and safety concerns (S/2022/272). Children with disabilities and displaced children were particularly vulnerable.

B. Challenges and the way forward

9. Compared with the proportion of casualties among adults, children were disproportionately affected by explosive remnants of war, the use of improvised explosive devices and mines, with a steady increase in the number of children killed or maimed by such weapons (9 per cent increase compared with the previous report, A/75/873-S/2021/437). Afghanistan, Colombia, Iraq, Myanmar, South Sudan, the Syrian Arab Republic, Yemen and the Lake Chad basin (areas affected by Boko Haram-affiliated and splinter groups) are particularly affected by the use and impact of such weapons. Efforts must be prioritized to clear explosive remnants of war, improvised explosive devices and mines, provide child-sensitive risk education, and promote assistance to victims. Similarly, indiscriminate and disproportionate attacks using explosive weapons in populated areas have had a severe impact on children, and parties to conflict must avoid the use of explosive weapons in populated areas.

10. The number of attacks on schools continues to rise, including attacks on students and on educational personnel, as well as the military use of schools, depriving children of their right to education and reducing the availability of safe and child-friendly spaces, thus jeopardizing children's future and their access to essential services, as well as making children more vulnerable to other violations. Children are abducted, killed or maimed, and suffer sexual violence, in or on the way to school. Some parties to conflict also use schools as recruitment grounds. In addition, the abduction of girls has increased by 41 per cent. Girls' education has been undermined by targeted attacks on girls' schools and the denial of schooling, particularly in Afghanistan and in the Lake Chad basin region. These attacks further affect girls' already limited access to education in the long term. In Afghanistan, Burkina Faso, Cameroon, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territory, Mali, Somalia and the Syrian Arab Republic, attacks on schools were devastating for children. The Security Council, in its resolution 2601 \(2021\), called for measures to protect schools and mitigate the military use of schools.

11. The pandemic aggravated the existing vulnerabilities of children, including by hampering the fulfilment of their rights, reducing child protection activities and safe spaces. The socioeconomic impact of the pandemic exposed children to grave violations and threatens to undo recent gains in the areas of child protection, human rights and the Sustainable Development Goals, by exposing children, their families and communities to renewed risks, including: economic insecurity; exploitative and hazardous relationships; negative coping mechanisms; social isolation; and reduced access to services and humanitarian assistance. In some contexts, girls may never be able to go back to school, because they have to earn an income or were forcibly married to support their families. We should continue monitoring and adapting programmatic and advocacy responses towards child protection, with a particular focus on girls.

III. Information on grave violations

A. Situations on the agenda of the Security Council

Afghanistan

12. The United Nations verified 2,577 grave violations against 2,430 children (1,579 boys, 798 girls, 53 sex unknown). In addition, 35 grave violations that occurred in previous years were verified in 2021. Serious safety and security challenges were faced by the country task force for monitoring and reporting on violations against children, following the takeover of Kabul by the Taliban on 15 August 2021. Parties to conflict affiliated with the government and pro-government parties ceased to exist. Most of the figures presented herein were verified for the period 1 January to 15 August 2021. Reporting by the monitoring and reporting mechanism was temporarily suspended from that moment until 31 December 2021 owing to the lack of access to monitor and verify violations. Reporting resumed in January 2022.

13. The United Nations verified the recruitment and use of 58 boys, some as young as 12, by the Taliban (34), pro-government militia (16), the Afghan National Police (7), Afghan National Police jointly with the Afghan National Army (1), in the north-eastern (20), south-eastern (14), northern (13), southern (6) central (2), eastern (2) and western (1) regions. Among these boys, 47 were recruited and used prior to 15 August. Children were used in combat, including in suicide attack squads, and support roles, including to make and transport improvised explosive devices for the Taliban.

14. As at mid-August 2021, 166 boys were detained on national security-related charges in juvenile rehabilitation centres. In addition, 168 children (90 boys, 78 girls) were kept in the Kabul female detention centre with their mothers who were detained for alleged or actual affiliation with Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant-Khorasan (ISIL-KP). After August 2021, the Taliban announced the release of all prisoners from Pul-e-Charkhi prison, juvenile rehabilitation centres and National Directorate of Security detention facilities, but the United Nations confirmed the continued presence of unknown numbers of children detained with adults in prisons and juvenile rehabilitation centres.

15. The United Nations verified the killing (626) and maiming (1,713) of 2,339 children (1,491 boys, 795 girls, 53 sex unknown), attributed to armed groups (1,047) (Taliban (690), unidentified armed groups (260), ISIL-KP (94), crossfire between Taliban and ISIL-KP (1), self-proclaimed Da'esh (1), Tehrik-e-Taliban Pakistan (1)); and to government and pro-government forces (698) (Afghan National Defence and Security Forces (582), joint operations of government and pro-government forces (72), pro-government militia (20), unidentified pro-government forces (15), international forces (9)). The remaining casualties were attributed to unidentified perpetrators (238), crossfire between pro-government forces and armed groups (346) and cross-border shelling from Pakistan (10). Child casualties mainly resulted from ground engagement (912), non-suicide improvised explosive devices (699), explosive remnants of war (261), air strikes (224), targeted killings (79) and suicide attacks (65). Of the total number of casualties, 2,074 casualties occurred before 15 August. In addition, the killing (7) and maiming (10) of 17 children (15 boys, 2 girls) in 2020 by unidentified armed groups (8), pro-government forces (5) and unidentified perpetrators (4) were verified in 2021.

16. Cases of sexual violence perpetrated against 8 children (7 boys, 1 girl) by the Afghan National Police (6), Taliban (1) and the Afghan National Army (1) were verified. Six boys were used as bacha bazi by the Afghan National Police.<sup>4</sup>

17. The United Nations verified 116 attacks on schools (53) and hospitals (63), including attacks on protected persons in relation to schools and/or hospitals, which were attributed to armed groups (65) (Taliban (46), unidentified armed groups (11), ISIL-KP (8)); to government and pro-government forces (32) (Afghan National Defence and Security Forces (26), pro-government militia (3), unidentified pro-government forces (3)); and to unidentified perpetrators (19), including as a result of crossfire between armed groups and government and pro-government forces (17), a grenade (1) and an improvised explosive device (1). Of the total number of attacks, 111 occurred before 15 August. In addition, one attack on a school in 2020 was verified in 2021.

18. As at mid-August, the military use of 35 schools (26) and hospitals (9) by the Taliban (24), and government and pro-government forces (11) (Afghan National Defence and Security Forces (7), pro-government militias (3), pro-government forces operating jointly (1)) was verified.

19. The abduction of 25 children (23 boys, 2 girls) by the Taliban was verified. Twenty children were subsequently released. In addition, the abduction of 17 boys by the Taliban in 2020 was verified in 2021.

20. The United Nations verified 31 incidents of the denial of humanitarian access by the Taliban (16), ISIL-KP (8), unidentified armed groups (6) and a pro-government militia (1). All the incidents occurred before 15 August.

Developments and concerns

21. I appeal to all parties to the conflict to end and prevent grave violations against children. I am concerned by the persistent high number of children killed and maimed, including by landmines, improvised explosive devices and explosive remnants of war, and by the high number of attacks on schools and hospitals. I call for the international community to invest in mine clearance and education. I urge the immediate reopening of schools for children in the sixth grade and above, including for all girls.

22. I am further concerned by the impact of the ongoing economic and humanitarian crisis in terms of exacerbating grave violations against children, such as the recruitment and use of children.

<sup>4</sup> Bacha bazi is a harmful practice whereby boys are used by men for entertainment. The boys are made to dance at parties and are often dressed in female clothes and subjected to sexual violence, as reported by the United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan and the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights in their annual report on the protection of civilians in armed conflict.

23. I urge the Taliban, and other parties, to engage with the United Nations to adopt concrete measures and sign an action plan to end and prevent violations against children, including the recruitment and use of children.

24. I call upon the Taliban to release children from detention and to respect international juvenile justice standards.

25. I urge the Taliban to define a child as every human being below the age of 18 years, and to respect the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the involvement of children in armed conflict.

Central African Republic

26. The United Nations verified 925 violations against 646 children (344 boys, 302 girls), including 105 children who were victims of multiple violations. In addition, 154 grave violations affecting 151 children (42 boys, 109 girls) that occurred in previous years were verified in 2021.

27. A total of 329 children (262 boys, 67 girls), some as young as 7, were verified as having been recruited and used, by armed groups (293): Coalition des patriotes pour le changement (CPC) (197) (Front populaire pour la renaissance de la Centrafrique (FPRC) (143), joint operations by anti-balaka and Retour, réclamation et réhabilitation (3R) (37), unidentified CPC (8), anti-balaka (6), 3R (3)); Union pour la paix en Centrafrique (UPC) (71); and the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) (25). Incidents involved looting, destruction and threats and attacks against related protected persons. The United Nations verified three attacks on schools (2) and hospitals (1) attributed to anti-balaka/3R, unidentified CPC and unidentified perpetrators, which occurred prior to 2021.

32. A total of 55 schools and 4 hospitals were used for military purposes by the Armed Forces of the Central African Republic/other security personnel (23), other security personnel (15), UPC (10), the Armed Forces of the Central African Republic (5), unidentified CPC (3), 3R (2) and unidentified perpetrators (1). Most incidents involved robberies, extortion, the destruction of property and assaults on humanitarian personnel.

35. I welcome the development by the Government of interministerial plans to implement the Child Protection Code. I remain concerned by the surge in the number of violations against children and by the recurrent attacks on and the military use of schools and hospitals and by the increased number child casualties caused by the Armed Forces of the Central African Republic and other security personnel. I call upon the Government to swiftly appoint child protection focal points in the Armed Forces of the Central African Republic, issue command directives applicable to all forces in the country, and, in cooperation with the United Nations, end and prevent grave violations by the Armed Forces and other security personnel. I urge the Government to investigate ongoing violations and hold perpetrators accountable. I continue to urge the Government to adopt a protocol for the handover of children associated with armed groups to civilian protection actors.

36. I urge the Government and other signatories of the Political Agreement for Peace and Reconciliation in the Central African Republic to cooperate with the United Nations to develop a national strategy to prevent and eliminate grave violations against children, and I request my Special Representative and the country task force to engage with the Government and signatories of the Agreement in support of this effort.

37. I note that United Nations dialogue with armed groups led to the release of 134 children from FPRC (92) and UPC (42). I am alarmed by the scale of violations attributed to armed groups, particularly CPC, such as the ongoing recruitment and use of children, and a sharp increase in sexual violence, abductions and in the number of attacks on schools and hospitals. I urge FPRC, MPC and UPC, all of which have signed action plans with the United Nations, to comply with their commitments and call upon all parties to adopt concrete measures to cease all grave violations, unconditionally release associated children and respect the civilian character of schools and hospitals.

38. I reiterate the recommendations from my report on children and armed conflict in the Central African Republic (S/2021/882).

Colombia

40. The United Nations verified the recruitment and use of 123 children (98 boys, 25 girls), between the ages of 12 and 17. Perpetrators were the Fuerzas Armadas Revolucionarias de Colombia-Ejército del Pueblo (FARC-EP) dissident groups (75), Ejército de Liberación Nacional (ELN) (17), Autodefensas Gaitanistas de Colombia (AGC) (17), unidentified perpetrators (8) and Los Caparrapos (6). Children were used as combatants and in support roles. During their association, 13 children were killed or maimed and three were victims of sexual violence. Most violations occurred in Nariño (16), Chocó and Antioquia (13 each), Norte de Santander and Caquetá (12 each), and Arauca (10).

41. A total of 70 children (45 boys, 25 girls) were killed (31) and maimed (39) by unidentified perpetrators (44), ELN (8), the Colombian armed forces (7), AGC (6) and FARC-EP dissident groups (5) mostly in Cauca (16), Chocó (13), and Antioquia (9). Child casualties resulted from gunshots (31), landmines, improvised explosive devices and explosive remnants of war (30), air strikes (6) and torture and inhuman treatment (3).

42. Rape and other forms of sexual violence affected 11 girls and the cases were attributed to FARC-EP dissident groups (6), unidentified perpetrators (3), ELN (1) and the Colombian armed forces (1). Most violations (7) occurred in Nariño Department.

43. Nine attacks on schools (6), hospitals (3) and protected persons in relation to schools and/or hospitals were verified and attributed to FARC-EP dissident groups (5), unidentified perpetrators (2), and ELN and Los Caparrapos (1 each). Incidents involved the killing and abduction of, and threats against, protected personnel, and damage to facilities.

44. Three schools were used by the Colombian armed forces (2) and AGC (1) in Arauca (2) and Chocó (1) Departments. The Colombian armed forces vacated the schools after a few hours.

45. A total of 16 children (11 boys, 5 girls) were abducted by ELN (7), Los Caparrapos (6) and FARC-EP dissident groups (3), mostly for recruitment purposes. Twelve of the children were released.

46. Two incidents of the denial of humanitarian access were verified and attributed to FARC-EP dissident groups and unidentified perpetrators in Arauca and Norte de Santander.

Developments and concerns

47. In January, the Government launched a strategy for the local implementation of the policy to prevent the recruitment and use of children and sexual violence against children. The programme, entitled “Súmate por mi” (Join Up for Me), continued in 209 municipalities, aimed at preventing child recruitment and use by armed groups. I commend these initiatives and encourage the Government to allocate adequate resources for their implementation, particularly at the local level and in vulnerable areas. I encourage the Government to continue demining and mine risk education activities. I urge the Government to endorse the Safe Schools Declaration and to end the military use of schools. I request my Special Representative and the country task force to further engage with the Government so as to support its protection and prevention efforts.

48. I welcome the fact that 180 children (126 boys, 54 girls) who were separated from armed groups entered the protection programme of the Colombian Family Welfare Institute. I also welcome the fact that the Institute is providing training to the Colombian armed forces on child rights.

49. I am concerned by the continued increase in the number of grave violations against children, notably in the cases of recruitment and use and abduction of children by armed groups, particularly by FARC-EP dissident groups and ELN. I urge armed groups to immediately end violations, unconditionally release children and adopt measures to end grave violations. I reiterate my call upon all parties to take all necessary measures to protect children during operations.

50. I urge all parties to end and prevent sexual violence. I commend the Government for investigating and prosecuting perpetrators, including members of the Colombian armed forces, and urge it to continue to do so. I further call upon the Government to ensure that adequate programmes are accessible to all survivors, including child-friendly and safe reporting and response mechanisms.

51. I reiterate the recommendations from my report on children and armed conflict in Colombia (S/2021/1022).

Democratic Republic of the Congo

52. The United Nations verified 3,546 violations against 2,979 children (2,090 boys, 889 girls). In addition, 790 grave violations against 238 children (162 boys, 76 girls) which occurred prior to 2021 were verified during the reporting period. At least 650 children were victims of multiple violations.

53. The United Nations verified the new recruitment and use of 565 children (487 boys, 78 girls), all of whom were separated in 2021, by Nyatura (120), Alliance des patriotes pour un Congo libre et souverain (APCLS) (101), Mai-Mai Mazembe (80), the Allied Democratic Forces (ADF) (60) and other armed groups (198). Six children were used as spies by the Armed Forces of the Democratic Republic of the Congo (5) and in hostilities (1). Cases were verified in North Kivu (385), Ituri (105), South Kivu (56), Maniema (13) and Tanganyika (4). Two children were recruited in Burundi and Uganda and trafficked into the Democratic Republic of the Congo for use by the Forces nationales de libération and ADF, respectively. Of the total, 241 children were used in combat and 324 children were used in support roles. In addition, 42 girls were also used for and subjected to sexual violence. Furthermore, the recruitment and use of 128 children (121 boys, 7 girls) by Raia Mutomboki (46), Mai-Mai Mazembe (31), Nyatura (13) and other armed groups (38), which occurred in previous years, were verified in 2021.

54. The remaining 27 casualties were attributed to unidentified perpetrators, including 25 resulting from explosive remnants of war. Attacks against civilians (289), crossfire (64) and explosive remnants of war (32) were the main causes of child casualties. In addition, the killing (20) and maiming (12) of 32 children (21 boys, 11 girls) by armed groups (31) and the armed forces (1), which occurred in previous years, were verified in 2021.

62. I welcome the commitment of the Government to sustain the gains made in preventing child recruitment and use, including through screening mechanisms. I call upon the Government to pursue those efforts and act to prevent cases of use of children by its armed forces.

63. I further call upon the Government to redouble efforts to end and prevent sexual violence against children, including by its forces, which are responsible for a persistently high number of violations. I reiterate my call upon the Government to implement the 2012 action plan and other commitments to address conflict-related sexual violence and prioritize access to services for survivors.

64. I commend the Government for its efforts to hold perpetrators of grave violations accountable and urge them to continue to do so, including for cases of child recruitment and use, and for cases of sexual violence.

65. I am troubled by the staggeringly high number of violations against children, particularly those committed by armed groups, and amid rising intercommunal violence, hate speech and attacks on civilians. I am concerned by the increase in the number of violations by government forces, particularly the killing and maiming of children and attacks on schools and hospitals, mostly in Ituri and North Kivu Provinces. I urge all parties to cease and prevent violations against children, to protect children during operations and immediately and unconditionally to release children. I call upon the Government to implement the Safe Schools Declaration, which it endorsed in 2016.

66. I call upon the Government to release children detained for alleged association with armed groups and to treat them in line with the 2013 governmental directives and international juvenile justice standards.

67. The signature by six commanders of unilateral commitments to protect children, following United Nations advocacy, and the release of 430 children, are welcomed. I urge groups that have not done so, including ADF, CODECO, and Mai-Mai groups operating in the Hauts Plateaux (South Kivu) to cease violations, immediately and unconditionally release children, and to engage with the United Nations to end and prevent violations.

68. I welcome the new disarmament, demobilization and reintegration community and stabilization programme and urge the Government to give children special consideration in the implementation thereof. I call upon international partners to support and fund reintegration programmes for children separated from armed groups.

Iraq

70. No cases of the recruitment and use of children were verified during the reporting period. The recruitment and use of one boy by Da'esh (in 2017) was verified in 2021.

71. As at December 2021, 1,267 children (1,251 boys, 16 girls) remained in detention on national security-related charges, for up to five years, including for their actual or alleged association with armed groups, primarily Da'esh.

72. A total of 159 children (127 boys, 28 girls, 4 unknown sex) were killed (72) and maimed (87) by unidentified perpetrators (101), Da'esh (37), Iraqi security forces (12), Operation Claw<sup>5</sup> (6) and the Popular Mobilization Forces (PMF) (3). The majority of incidents occurred in areas previously under the control of Da'esh. Child casualties resulted from explosive remnants of war (127), ground engagement (24), crossfire (1) and air strikes (7). In addition, the killing of two boys in 2017 by unidentified perpetrators was verified in 2021.

Developments and concerns

77. I welcome the absence of cases of the recruitment and use of children attributed to PMF and the engagement between the Government and the United Nations to prevent grave violations, and the progress made towards the development of an action plan to end and prevent the recruitment and use of children by PMF. I urge the Government to prioritize the adoption and implementation of the action plan. The prompt signature and implementation of the action plan may make PMF eligible for delisting from the annexes to my report on children and armed conflict upon United Nations verification that the terms of the action plan have been fulfilled, including that the violations mentioned therein have ceased, and that measures are in place to prevent their reoccurrence.

78. I am concerned that explosive remnants of war are the leading cause for rising child casualties. I urge the Government to fully implement international legal instruments on mines and explosive remnants of war. I call upon the Government to continue demining, mine risk education and victim assistance, including prior to any movement by internally displaced persons to contaminated areas.

79. I am troubled by the increase in the number of children detained on national security-related charges, including for their actual or alleged association with Da'esh. These children should be treated primarily as victims and in line with international juvenile justice standards. Children should only be detained as a last resort and for the shortest period of time. I call upon the Government to release these children to child protection actors.

80. I welcome the adoption of the Law on Support to Female Yazidi Survivors. I encourage the Government to address the needs of other minorities, of boys and men who are survivors of Da'esh atrocities and of children born of rape.

81. I commend the Government for the repatriation of 336 Iraqi families, including 858 children, from Hawl camp in the Syrian Arab Republic. I welcome the repatriation of 223 children from Iraq to their countries of origin. I reiterate my call upon all countries concerned to facilitate the voluntary repatriation and reintegration of children, in line with the principle of non-refoulement, with respect for family unity and the best interests of the child, and in accordance with international law.

82. I encourage the Government to facilitate the reintegration of all children affected by armed conflict, with the support of the United Nations.

83. I reiterate my recommendations from my report on children and armed conflict in Iraq (S/2022/46).

Separately, 156 other interferences with health (54) and education (102) by Israeli forces (152) and Israeli settlers (4) were verified. Most involved Israeli forces firing weapons at health facilities (4), at ambulances and paramedics (45), at or in the vicinity of schools (27) and closures of checkpoints or the denial of teachers' and students' access through checkpoints (45). Of concern, in the context of a subsequent investigation into how to secure a school of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East that had been struck by two Israeli missiles, the existence of a possible tunnel under the school was discovered, for potential use by Palestinian armed groups, with no indication of the existence of any entry or exit points for the tunnel within the premises.

91. I welcome the collaboration extended by Israeli and Palestinian parties to my Special Representative.

92. I am alarmed by the increase in grave violations against children, particularly the dramatic rise in killing and maiming, including in the context of the escalation of hostilities in May 2021, despite commitments by Israeli and Palestinian parties to implement corrective measures and strengthen protection frameworks following consultations with my Special Representative (A/75/873-S/2021/437). I urge the Israeli forces and Palestinian armed groups to abide by their obligations under international humanitarian and international human rights law, including by ensuring that operations are conducted in line with the principles of distinction, proportionality and precaution, and to immediately correct and reinforce existing measures to ensure the protection of children affected by armed conflict. I reiterate my call upon all parties to continue to engage with my Special Representative and the United Nations, including at the country level, to end and prevent grave violations against children and to better protect children and respect international humanitarian law and international human rights law.

93. I am shocked by the number of children killed and maimed by Israeli forces during hostilities, in air strikes on densely populated areas and through the use of live ammunition during law enforcement operations, and by the persistent lack of accountability for these violations. I express serious concern regarding the excessive use of force and reiterate that security forces must exercise maximum restraint and use lethal force only when it is strictly unavoidable in order to protect life and put in place preventive and protective measures to end and prevent any excessive use of force against children. I note the existing procedures, which have been shared with my Special Representative, and I urge Israeli authorities to review and strengthen their procedures to prevent any excessive use of force. I further urge Israel to continue to investigate each case where live ammunition was used, as required by procedure, and to pursue accountability for violations against children. I exhort Israel to better protect schools.

94. I am concerned by the increase in the number of children detained by Israel and by the reports by children of physical violence directed against them during detention. I reiterate my call upon Israel to uphold international juvenile justice standards, including the use of detention as a measure of last resort and for the shortest appropriate period of time, to end the administrative detention of children, and to prevent any violence and ill-treatment in detention.

95. I am concerned by the increase in the killing and maiming of children by Palestinian armed groups and by recurrent incidents of recruitment and use of children. I call upon Palestinian armed groups to cease the recruitment and use of children and to abide by their domestic and international legal obligations. I call upon Palestinian armed groups to cease all indiscriminate launching of rockets and mortars from densely populated areas in Gaza towards Israeli civilian population centres. I urge all Palestinian armed groups to protect children, including by preventing them from being exposed to the risk of violence or by abstaining from instrumentalizing them for political purposes.

156. I welcome the Government’s efforts to implement the 2012 action plans on ending and preventing the recruitment and use and the killing and maiming of children and the 2019 road map, including at the federal member state level. I urge the Government to strengthen and expedite the implementation of its commitments to combat conflict-related sexual violence.

157. I reiterate my call upon the Government to ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the involvement of children in armed conflict and the African Charter on the Rights and Welfare of the Child, fast-track the 197. I welcome the dialogue between the Government and the United Nations on measures to end and prevent grave violations against children, the reactivation of the interministerial committee, and the organization of a joint workshop on child protection on 14 March 2022. I note the issuance of law No. 21/2021 on the rights and protections afforded to children and the commitment reaffirmed by the Government to support the humanitarian response by the United Nations and its partners. I urge the Government to increase its engagement with the United Nations, and with my Special Representative, to strengthen the protection of children, including through the signature of concrete time-bound commitments, and I welcome the ongoing development of a draft comprehensive action plan.

198. I note the continuing progress in the implementation of the 2019 action plan by SDF, resulting in the disengagement of a further 182 children from their ranks and the screening out of 568 boys through age assessment procedures. I also note the adoption by SDF of new guidelines for the release and exclusion of children from their ranks, and procedures for protecting children detained for alleged association with Da'esh. The disciplinary measures against SDF personnel who violate the commitments under the action plan are a positive development. However, I remain concerned by the increased number of verified cases of recruitment and use by SDF and I urge SDF to immediately end all violations.

199. I note the engagement between factions of the opposition SNA and the United Nations, including an exchange of letters aiming at the development of an action plan, and the fact that the opposition SNA issued a statement in September 2021 on measures to comply with international humanitarian law to protect children, including the prohibition of child recruitment and use. I urge the opposition SNA to scale up its engagement with the United Nations to end and prevent grave violations and to adopt an action plan.

200. I remain alarmed by the deprivation of liberty of children for their alleged association with parties to conflict. I welcome the access provided by SDF for United Nations partners to visit two detention facilities in Aleppo Governorate and I call upon other parties in the Syrian Arab Republic to also facilitate United Nations access to children deprived of liberty. I reiterate my call to treat children primarily as victims, and that deprivation of liberty should be a measure of last resort and for the shortest appropriate period of time, and in line with international juvenile justice standards and the best interest of the child.

201. I remain seriously concerned by the humanitarian situation of women and children in the Hawl and Rawj camps and in places of detention in the north-east. I reiterate my call upon all concerned countries of origin and relevant authorities inside the Syrian Arab Republic to facilitate the voluntary repatriation of women and children who are currently in these camps, including those with suspected family ties to Da'esh, in line with international law and in full respect for the principle of non-refoulement and with respect for family unity and the best interest of the child, and in line with the Global Framework on United Nations Support to Member States on Individuals Returned from the Syrian Arab Republic and Iraq, adopted in 2020.

202. I am appalled by the persistently high number of violations against children committed by all parties to the conflict, particularly the significant increase in child recruitment and use, and by the continued high number of cases of killing and maiming and of attacks on schools and hospitals, and by widespread impunity. I urge all parties to end and prevent grave violations and comply with their obligations under international humanitarian law and international human rights law.

203. I call upon the Syrian Arab Republic to become a party to international legal instruments on mines and explosive remnants of war.

204. I reiterate the recommendations from my report on children and armed conflict in the Syrian Arab Republic (S/2021/398).

Developments and concerns

214. I welcome the continued commitment of the Government, through the identification of priority activities, to implementing the 2014 action plan and the 2018 road map to end and prevent child recruitment and use. I further welcome the resumption of the interministerial committee activities and the organization of training sessions on child protection. I note the significant decrease in the number of verified cases of child recruitment and use by, and the decrease in the number of child casualties caused by, the Yemen Armed Forces, as well as efforts by the Government to facilitate humanitarian access. I encourage the Government to continue to strengthen the measures in place to prevent child casualties during military operations and implement measures to prevent violations. I note Government efforts to reintegrate children formerly associated with armed forces and armed groups and the recent roll-out of the Act to Protect Children Affected by Conflict campaign in Aden. I call upon the Government to adopt a handover protocol on the release of children.

215. I welcome the continued engagement of the Coalition with my Special Representative to sustainably end and prevent grave violations against children and the progress achieved in the implementation of the programme of time-bound activities endorsed in January 2020. I note the continued decrease in the number of child casualties, and I call upon the Coalition to pursue and deepen the implementation of the 2019 memorandum of understanding and the related programme of time-bound activities. I urge the Coalition to swiftly investigate all incidents involving child casualties and comply with their obligations under international humanitarian law. I also urge the Coalition to expedite justice, accountability and redress to child victims and their families. Continuous monitoring and engagement to ensure the sustained implementation of agreed activities and further reductions in the number of affected children, as verified by the United Nations, is expected and will be closely observed.

216. I welcome the signature of an action plan by the Houthis with the United Nations on 18 April 2022 to end and prevent the recruitment and use and the killing and maiming of children, as well as attacks on schools and hospitals and other grave violations. I urge the Houthis to implement all the activities of the action plan, including releasing all children from their ranks, and to immediately end and prevent violations. I call upon the Houthis to continue the implementation of the handover protocol of April 2020 and to allow unimpeded access for the United Nations to all places of detention.

217. I am alarmed by the high number of children killed and maimed, especially by explosive remnants of war, by the number of cases of denial of humanitarian access and by the number of cases of the recruitment and use of children and of the military use of schools and hospitals, particularly by the Houthis. I urge the Houthis and all parties to abide by their obligations under international humanitarian law and international human rights law and to allow and facilitate safe, timely and unimpeded humanitarian access to children across the country. I urge all parties to step up the clearance of mines and explosive remnants of war, as well as and mine risk education.

218. I call upon parties to put an end to the fighting and engage with my Special Envoy for Yemen towards the resumption of an inclusive political process to reach a comprehensive negotiated settlement. I also call upon them to include child protection concerns in the peace process.

241. I welcome the training of police officers on child protection, including in the North-West and South-West Regions, by the United Nations. I call upon the Government to extend the training to all defence and security forces. I also call upon the Government to ensure that disarmament, demobilization and reintegration programmes consider the specific needs and rights of children formerly associated with armed groups and to allow child protection actors access to all disarmament, demobilization and reintegration centres. I further call upon the Government to pursue its efforts to strengthen the protection of children, including by ensuring accountability for grave violations against children.

242. I am concerned about the detention of children for their alleged association with armed groups. 250. I welcome the ongoing engagement of the Government with my Special Representative, including the interministerial meeting held in November 2021 and the appointment of a national focal point to identify priority national interventions so as to enhance the protection of children. I further welcome the agreement to a joint technical mission to hold interministerial, technical-level meetings with the United Nations during 2022 to identify areas of enhanced cooperation for child protection. This enhanced engagement may lead to the removal of India as a situation of concern from my next report on children and armed conflict, should all practical measures agreed to in such meetings be fully implemented by that date.

251. I welcome the legal and administrative framework for the protection of children and improved access to child protection services in Chhattisgarh, Assam, Jharkhand, Odisha and Jammu and Kashmir, and progress in the creation of a Jammu and Kashmir commission for the protection of children's rights, but I remain concerned about the risk of child recruitment by armed groups in affected districts.

252. I am concerned by the increased number of violations against children verified in Jammu and Kashmir. I call upon the Government to strengthen child protection, including by ending the use of pellet guns against children and building the capacity of its forces. These efforts should be prioritized, including by incorporating such training into the curricula of military schools. I urge the Government of Chad to pursue accountability for violations against children, including sexual violence.

260. I welcome the efforts of the Government of the Niger to enhance the protection of children, and the fact that children released from armed groups transiting through the anti-terrorist cell in Diffa were increasingly handed over to civilian child protection actors. 261. Children allegedly associated with armed groups must be treated primarily as victims, with detention as a measure of last resort and for the shortest appropriate period of time.

IV. Recommendations

292. I welcome the continued engagement by parties to conflict with the United Nations to develop and implement action plans and commitments to protect children in armed conflict. I reiterate my call upon Member States to continue to support this engagement, including by facilitating United Nations engagement with non-State actors. I encourage Member States to adopt and implement handover protocols for children encountered or detained during military operations to civilian child protection actors. I request my Special Representative and the country task forces to engage with parties to prevent grave violations, including through engagement with regional organizations on prevention modalities, and to strengthen the monitoring and reporting on children and armed conflict in coordination with United Nations system entities.

293. I call upon the Security Council to ensure that child protection provisions and capacity are included in all relevant mandates of United Nations peacekeeping operations and special political missions in line with the 2017 policy on child protection in United Nations peace operations, and to ensure that data and capacity on child protection are preserved and transferred during mission transitions. I underline the importance of mainstreaming child protection concerns in early warning, conflict analysis, the pacific settlement of disputes, transitional justice and disarmament, demobilization and reintegration.

294. I call upon Member States to adopt and implement policies to promote the rights of the child, including by becoming parties to the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the involvement of children in armed conflict, if they have not yet done so. I call upon Member States to endorse and implement the Paris Principles, the Safe Schools Declaration and the Vancouver Principles.

295. I remain concerned by the scale and severity of grave violations committed against children. I call upon all parties to comply with their obligations under international humanitarian law, international human rights law and international refugee law and to immediately end and prevent grave violations. I urge Member States and parties to conflict to define a child as every human being below the age of 18 years.

296. I call for the adoption and implementation of legislation that criminalizes violations of relevant rules of international law, including on grave violations pertaining to the protection of children in armed conflict, and encourage Member States to adopt national accountability measures and to cooperate with international accountability mechanisms. I call for the inclusion of accountability provisions in action plans signed between the United Nations and parties listed in the annexes.

297. I am deeply concerned at the number of children deprived of liberty, and I reiterate that detention should be used only as a last resort and for the shortest appropriate period of time, that alternatives to detention should be prioritized and that children should never be detained solely for their or their parents' actual or alleged association with armed groups. I urge Member States to treat children actually or allegedly associated with armed forces or groups, including those designated as terrorist groups, primarily as victims, to prioritize their best interest, to give child protection actors access to them and to continue to search for durable solutions, including voluntary repatriation and reintegration for those with alleged links to Da'esh in Iraq and in the Syrian Arab Republic, in line with international law. I am concerned about the impact of counter-terrorism measures on children and I call upon Member States to ensure their consistency with the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

298. I call upon all parties to allow and facilitate safe, timely and unimpeded humanitarian access, as well as access by children to services, assistance and protection, and to ensure the safety and security of humanitarian personnel and assets. I underline that hospitals, schools and their personnel must be protected, in accordance with international humanitarian law. I urge parties to refrain from the military use of schools and hospitals.

299. I call upon the donor community to urgently provide financial support and technical assistance for sustainable, timely, gender- and age-sensitive, survivor-centred and inclusive reintegration programmes for children, including for survivors of sexual violence. I encourage the international community to provide funding for monitoring and reporting on grave violations against children and for strengthening child protection capacities on the ground.

300. I encourage Member States and regional and subregional organizations to engage with the United Nations to improve analysis, develop strategies to prevent grave violations and foster partnerships.

V. Lists contained in the annexes to the present report

301. In Colombia, the Fuerzas Armadas Revolucionarias de Colombia-Ejército del Pueblo (FARC-EP) dissident groups have been listed under section A of annex I for the recruitment and use of children. In Burkina Faso, Jama'a Nusrat ul-Islam wa al-Muslimin has been listed under section A of annex II for the recruitment and use, killing and maiming, and abduction of children. In the Lake Chad Basin region, Boko Haram-affiliated and splinter groups, including Jama'atu Ahlis Sunna Lidda'Awati Wal-Jihad and Islamic State West Africa Province, have been listed for the abduction of children under section A of annex II. These parties are listed following a substantial increase of these violations since my previous report. I request my Special Representative to promote enhanced monitoring capacity in the Central Sahel region and to continue to promote monitoring capacity in the Lake Chad Basin region.

302. In Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territory, there were substantial rocket strikes by the Palestinian armed groups, especially in May 2021, resulting in a significant increase in the number of cases of violence against children. If the high number of violations against children were to be repeated in 2022, without meaningful improvement, Palestinian armed groups, including Hamas' al-Qassam Brigades and Palestinian Islamic Jihad's al-Quds Brigades, should be listed. Palestinian parties must urgently engage with my Special Representative and the United Nations to prevent any more violations against children, and they must adopt clear and time-bound commitments to prevent violations against children.

303. During the May 2021 escalation of hostilities, there were substantial air strikes by the Israeli armed forces, resulting in a significant increase the number of cases of violence against children. So far this year, we have not witnessed a similar number of violations. However, should the situation repeat itself in 2022, without meaningful improvement, Israel should be listed. Israeli authorities are engaging with my Special Representative and the United Nations to prevent any more violations against children and adopt clear and time-bound commitments.

304. The following parties were previously listed and have had additional violations added to their listing. In the Democratic Republic of the Congo, because of the continuous increase in cases of rape and other forms of sexual violence by the Mai-Mai Apa Na Pale and by the Coopérative pour le développement du Congo (CODECO) armed groups, both parties have been listed under section A of annex I for this violation.

305. In Yemen, the Government forces, including the Yemen Armed Forces, have been delisted for the violation of recruitment and use of children owing to progress in the implementation of their action plan and to the significant decrease in the number of cases of this violation. The delisting is conditional upon the finalization of all pending action plan activities and the continued decrease in the recruitment and use of children by the Government forces, including the Yemen Armed Forces. A continued United Nations monitoring and engagement period of 12 months will ensure the sustainability of all existing measures, as verified by the United Nations, and continued engagement with my Special Representative and the United Nations. Any failure in this regard would result in a relisting for the same violation in my next report. In South Sudan, the South Sudan People's Defence Forces, including the Taban Deng-allied South Sudan People's Defence Forces, having signed a comprehensive action plan in 2020 and made progress in its implementation while a decrease in violations has been verified, will be delisted for the violation of attacks on schools and hospitals. I call upon the South Sudan People's Defence Forces, including the Taban Deng-allied South Sudan People's Defence Forces, and other signatories of the action plan to finalize the implementation of all provisions of the action plan and continue to significantly reduce cases of other violations against children.

306. There has been a technical delisting of one of the listed parties following their dissolution or cessation of activities. In Afghanistan, the Afghan National Army has been removed, as these government forces ceased to exist following the takeover of Kabul by the Taliban on 15 August 2021.

307. Other modifications to the list have resulted from changes in the landscape of armed conflict in the respective situations or from changes in measures taken by parties to protect children. In Afghanistan, the Haqqani Network will be listed jointly with the Taliban, as the group is now part of the leadership of the Taliban. In the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the armed group Alliance des patriotes pour un Congo libre et souverain (APCLS) will be listed under section A of annex I owing to the lack of action in implementing signed commitments and because the party continued to recruit and use children in large numbers in 2021. In Mali, Platform, including affiliated groups, will be listed under section B of annex I, following the signature of action plans with the United Nations on 26 August 2021. In Somalia, the Somali Federal Defence and Police Forces will be listed as two separate entities for the same violations under section B of annex I. In the Syrian Arab Republic, the Government forces, including the National Defence Forces and pro-government militias, will be listed under section B of annex I for all violations for which they are listed, following engagement with the United Nations on a draft comprehensive action plan and the national measures put in place in 2020 and 2021. This is conditional upon the signature of an action plan with the United Nations on ending and preventing grave violations against children and on the continued decrease in the number of verified cases of recruitment and use. Failure to do so would lead to a reversal of the listing of Government forces, including the National Defence Forces and pro-government militias, under section A of annex I in my next report.

308. The Kurdish People's Protection Units and Women's Protection Units (YPG/YPJ) will remain listed under section B of annex I, however I am concerned by the increase during 2021 of the levels of recruitment and use, despite the signature of an action plan and the promising start of activities in this regard. I urge the Kurdish People's Protection Units and Women's Protection Units to reverse this negative trend, to continue engaging with the United Nations and to implement the provisions of its 2019 action plan. Any failure in this regard would result in being listed in section A of annex I for the same violation in my next report. The opposition Syrian National Army, including Ahrar al-Sham and Army of Islam armed groups (see the change in terminology in para. 310 below), has been listed under section B of annex I with respect to the killing and maiming of children following concrete engagement with the United Nations and the protection measures taken, but will continue to be listed under section A of annex I for the recruitment and use of children owing to the high number of children recruited and used during 2021. I urge the opposition Syrian National Army, including Ahrar al-Sham and Army of Islam, to continue engaging with the United Nations for the development of an action plan to end and prevent the recruitment and use of children.

309. In Yemen, the Houthis (who call themselves Ansar Allah) have been listed under section B of annex I for the recruitment and use and the killing and maiming of children and for attacks on schools and hospitals, following engagement with the United Nations and the signature of an action plan on grave violations. If the Houthis implement the action plan and if there is a verified significant decrease in the number of grave violations, they should as a result be considered for a delisting in the annexes to my next report. I urge them to commence implementation of the recent action plan.

310. Modifications to terminology and to names of parties resulting from changes on the ground are aimed at reflecting the name of parties more accurately. In the Central African Republic, the local defence militias known as the anti-balaka will be listed as local militias known as the anti-balaka to reflect the fact that they do not always act in self-defence. In Colombia, the dissident groups of the former Fuerzas Armadas Revolucionarias de Colombia-Ejército del Pueblo (FARC-EP) will be listed as Fuerzas Armadas Revolucionarias de Colombia-Ejército del Pueblo (FARC-EP) dissident groups to align with other United Nations reporting. In Mali, Mouvement national de libération de l’Azawad will be listed as Mouvement national de libération de l’Azawad, part of Coordination des mouvements de l’Azawad. Should the group fail to make significant progress in the implementation of its 2017 action plan by the publication of my next report, I may consider listing the group under section A of annex I. In addition, Ansar Eddine will be listed as Ansar Eddine, as part of Jama‘a Nusrat ul-Islam wa al-Muslimin. In the Syrian Arab Republic, the Syrian armed opposition groups (formerly known as the Free Syrian Army) will be listed as the opposition Syrian National Army, including Ahrar al-Sham and Army of Islam, to reflect the composition of these groups. Islamic State in Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) will be listed as Da‘esh following the adoption of resolution 75/291 by the General Assembly.

311. In view of the gravity and number of violations reported and, where possible, verified in Mozambique during 2021 (recruitment and use, killing and maiming, rape and other forms of sexual violence, attacks on schools and hospitals, abduction, and denial of humanitarian access), this situation will be added as a situation of concern with immediate effect and will be included in my next report.

312. In view of the gravity of clashes in 2021 between the Ethiopian National Defence and Federal Police Forces, the Tigray People’s Liberation Front and other parties, including militias and regional forces, and the killing and maiming of children, rape and other forms of sexual violence, attacks on schools and hospitals, abductions, and the denial of humanitarian access, this situation will be added as a situation of concern with immediate effect and will be included in my next report.

313. In view of the ongoing war in Ukraine, including violations against civilians, including children, because of the high intensity of this conflict, this situation will be added as a situation of concern with immediate effect and will be included in my next report. I request my Special Representative to engage with all parties to the conflict to urgently address child protection issues, including the prevention of violations against children.
